
Creative Writing Course

This course is about how you can implement creative writing in Higher Education through Academic Advanced English Learning. It aims to help you and explore how a narrative can be developed into an interesting story, or how the words we use every day can be arranged into a descriptive character. The course should help you encourage yourself to explore and write descriptions that appeal to the senses, arguments that are convincing and narratives that relate ordinary events in an extraordinary way. The course's aim is to help you notice what makes the texts, creative rather than a collection of ordinary factual information. You will discover how to think creatively and confidently.

Intended for academic staff!

Lecturer:
